Message from the President

It is with great pleasure that the Baltimore Watercolor Society presents to you their 2023 Mid-Atlantic Art Exhibition. The Kentlands Mansion is the perfect showcase for this awe-inspiring collection of artworks. Please embrace this visual moment in time.

Thank you to the many volunteers, vendors, various art organizations, and other financial benefactors that have worked together to make this exhibit possible. And most of all, we thank the artists who have shared with us their exciting vision of our world.

LINDA LUKE

About the Baltimore Watercolor Society

Founded in 1885, the Baltimore Watercolor Society is the third oldest organization in the country devoted to the use of watercolor as a painting medium. Since its founding, numerous artists of national reputation have been associated with the Society as members, exhibitors and jurors. BWS is a registered 501 (c) (3) organization.

The Society offers its Signature Artist Members and Associate Artist Members opportunities to exhibit in local and regional shows, frequent newsletters, workshops, lectures and demonstrations, free online demonstrations, and trips to major exhibitions. Please consider joining us.

Juror's Statement

Alexis Lavine served as juror and selector of awards for the 2023 Mid-Atlantic Regional Watercolor Exhibition. She is a signature member of nine watercolor societies, most notably The National Watercolor Society, Watercolor USA Honor Society, and Transparent Watercolor Society of America. She is especially pleased to be a long-time signature and life member of BWS, and was recently honored to receive BWS Watermedia Master Elite recognition. Honored as one of Watercolor Artist Magazine's "Ones to Watch," her paintings have also been published in Splash, The Artistic Touch, and The Palette Magazine. Alexis' paintings have been exhibited in juried shows across the country and overseas, including The American and National Watercolor Societies, Watercolor USA, Watercolor West, and many others.

"Having exhibited in numerous juried shows, I understand how important it is to serve as juror. I consider this to be a great honor and have tried to approach the task with a good eye for design, technique, and expression ... and with true respect, humility, wonder, and fairness.

"Judging a large and prestigious competition such as this one is always exciting, fascinating, and humbling. Being faced with the task of choosing fewer than 100 paintings from nearly 400 entries made my job very challenging, to say the least. The entries encompassed just about every possible subject, technique, and allowable materials. I tried to choose the strongest body of work, and to recognize and include all of those marvelous variations on the theme of watermedia.

"If your painting was selected, may I offer you a hearty 'Congratulations!' If your painting was not selected, please do not be overly discouraged. I know how you feel! Keep on painting and learning and entering shows. Be stubborn! Be determined! And don't give up on this unique, versatile and expressive medium, which we all love so much!"

Word from the Mid-Atlantic Chair

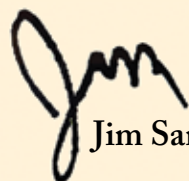

This has been my first year as chair of the Mid-Atlantic Exhibition. Sharon Green, who set very high standards during her tenure as chair, has guided me through the process at every turn, for which I am grateful.

I have learned that preparing for the Mid-Atlantic is a year-round effort where art, technology, planning, and communication all blend together, and where initial preparations for the following year overlap the completion of the previous year's exhibition. It is very much a team effort, combining the work of a dozen volunteers, the juror, gallery staff, sponsors, the Mid-Atlantic Awards Chairs, the BWS Board and, of course, hundreds of talented artists.

The best part of doing this job is the ongoing opportunity to communicate with the artists, see their work, help them through the application process, and see the results in the final exhibition. Every artist, from amateur to seasoned professional, brings a different story and perspective to the process, and I can't imagine a better seat from which to see and learn from it all. I look forward to leading the Mid-Atlantic exhibition in the years to come.

Whether seeing the exhibition in-person, via the catalog, or on-line, I hope you are as awed by the show as I have been.

Jim Sandford
